FIGHTING FOR A FORTUNE.

William Young, of Moosic, Believed to He the Only Heir.

The fortune left by Jonas Fenstermacher, who died in Oregon several months ago, is causing a big fight. Villiam Young, of Moosic, is one of the direct heirs, if not in fact the only Jonas Fenstermacher when a boy was taken from the Northampton stairs and he was down. He said county poor house by David R. Keller. and raised by him until the boy was as dying, after accumulating a hand-

William Young, of Moosle, found hinself an heir, he being a son of Ferstermacher's dead sister. Young heir did not turn up.

The Moosic man left for Portland, in that state, and began a suit to recover the estate, employing a lawyer named Moreland. The state was represented by Chester V. Dolph, who was on Wednesday a guest of the Indian Queen hoter, Stroudsburg. Lawyer Moreland was also there and both attorneys took depositions in the case which is said to involve several thousand dollars.

The lawyers took the deposition of Mrs. David Ketier, who well remembers the little boy her husband took from the Northampton poor house Mrs. Keller said she had heard Fanstermacher talk of a sister.

Young says he has positive proof that he is a tenhew of the deceased Fenstermacher and is entitled to the estate. No other heirs have turned up.

A BAD MARKMAN

Instead of Hitting the Hat He Shot His Friend in the Wrist.

THIS VERSION OF THE AFFAIR IS DISPUTED BY KUTSKOW-JURY IN THE CASE AGAINST ALDERMAN KELLEY COULD NOT AGREE-JAS. CAMPBELL WAS DECLARED INNO-CENT OF THE SERIOUS CHARGE MADE AGAINST HIM-THE CASES THAT WERE TRIED.

John Dranchoke was tried yesterday afternoon before Judge Olmstead for felonious attempt upon Michael Kuts-They reside in the vicinity of the Brisbin shaft. They went out together one afternoon last summer to shoot at target. A bullet fired from Dranchoke's revolver struck Kutskow in the hand, and two stories were told as to Dranchoke testified that Kutskow bet thirty cents he could hold his hat and that the former could not put a bullet through it. He covered the bet, loaded his weapon and marched off the required number of paces, fifty feet, from Kutskow and took aim and fired. Kutskow won the bet, for Dranchoke missed the hat. The bullet, however, lodged in Kutskow's wrist.

The other story put the facts in this light: Kutskow said the defendant was aiming indiscriminately and for fear he might shoot some one, he (Kutskow) clapped his hand on the firearm just as Dranchoke pulled the trigger. jury was out at adjournment. Dran-choke was tried for assault and battery on Mrs. Kutskow. That was another day. The jury divided the costs.

JURY DISAGREED.

Alderman Kelley, of the Eighteenth ward, was not convicted nor acquitted. The jury went out at 3,30 Thursday aftermoon and were out all night. They came into court yesterday morning with the request that they be discharged, being unable to agree upon a verdict. They were accordingly dis-charged. Judge Edwards was anxious him they could not.

James Campbell, of the North End, was found not guilty of the serious charge of attempting criminal assault on the 7-year-old daughter of Alexander Martin. Michael Gerrity was found not guilty of the obstruction of the execution of a legal process, and the costs were imposed on the prosecutor, Arigoni Ferdinando.

John McHale was found guilty of being the author of Maria Flynn's shame; and a verdict of guilty was returned against George Makely, similarly charged by Mabel Mirtz. Each of $59 to the poor district, $25 to the girl for expenses, and $1.25 a week until the child becomes 7 years old. Mrs. John Evans plead guilty to assault and battery on Emma Faust and was sentenced to pay a fine of $35 and costs. George Prokopovitch, of Olyphant, vas tried before Judge Edwards with trafficking in registered bottles. A. M. Morse, the well-known Hyde Park bottler, was the prosecutor. Attorney Scragg represented the prosecution and Attorney John P. Kelley the defendant. The charge against him was that he used Morse & Son's bottles and the

done it was subsequent to May 15, 1896. Prokopovitch claimed that he got out of the business on May 15, sold out to vo young men in his employ and if Morse's bottles were used by them it was not his concern. He put the bill of sale, lease, receipts for money paid on account, in evidence to prove his claim. The jury went out a few minutes before adjournment. Joseph Zply was tried before Judge Archbald for felonious wounding. defendant with the stabbing. Celate Bolona was tried for firing hree shots at Louis Salvators in Dunmore last December. One of the shots took a lock of Salvatore's hair off and left a scar. The prosecutor did not see who fired the shots, but he testified that Folona admitted he fired them and regretted he had not taken beter aim. Phis was all denied by the defendant.

The funniest case of the week came next before Judge Archbald. Jacob stinberg was charged with beating Mrs. Mary Polisky, They are Olyphant folks, Messrs, Vidaver and Manning were the respective attorneys and they furnished some terse dialogue.

STEINBERG'S DENIAL.

Steinberg has a coal black, bushy chisker and dark penetrating eyes, and no hair on his head. On the witness stand he persisted in giving a biograph-ical sketch of himself. Mr. Vidaver asked him if he struck the woman, and he said no with emphasis. She was up. could no more strike her than I could shoot a Spanish soldier over in Spain is years of age, when he ran away and from here, which I would do if I got was heard from years after in Oregon the chance." Mr. Vidaver thought this patriotic outlierst was sufficient to have the costs put on the prosecutor. The jury went out and did not return before adjournment.

James Jenings, of Carbondals, was learned that the state of Oregon would drunk and noisy when he was called claim the noney in a few weeks if an to presecute Sidney Tucker for striking him with a beer bottle on election night hist February. PRICES CONTINUE FIRM.

The Demand for Anthracite, However, is Very Limited. The Coal Trade Journal in referring to the condition of the anthracite coal trade says:

"The prices for anthracite continue firm at from five to fifteen cents below the circular price and if there were a greater demand for coal, there would be nothing to be desired in the way of financial results, but under the present circumstances they are discouraging. While some of the large dealers in Eastern ports are stocking up, there is comparatively little being done in a general way throughout the country toward laying in supplies of coal. The experience of last year will probably deter dealers, for some time to come, from making early investments. "No spring circular has been issued and none is expected. In view of recent experiences, it is not considered likely that any large amount of coal could be sold at this time even at a material reduction, for it would be thought by retailers that further reductions might be made later on and it is considered preferable by the producers to endeavor to get a fair price for the small amount moving, rather than to try to stimulate business by offering concessions. "The matter of transportation promises to be one of much interest during the pext few weeks, for not only has the government made purchases of a number of coal carriers and so narrowed the competition, but the fear of capture in the event of hostilities will prevent masters of vessels still in the trade from making future arrange-Meanwhile the tendency for ments. freights is generally upward?"

woman who gave the name of Lee and Hughes, and who has been imposing on charitably distored people, was a rested yesterday by Mrs. W. B. Dugon, officer and agent of the Associat-

d Charities. On Thursday evening the woman obtained from Rev. J. A. O'Reilly, of St. Peter's cathedral, a small sum with which to buy a ticket to Pittston where her sister lives. She said they should find a verdict, but they told she was a widow with five children, one of whom had hip disease. Yesterday Mrs. Duggan found the woman begging on Adams avenue. She admitted her name was Lee and not Hughes, and that her story about the children was false.

It was ascertained that for five weeks she had been living with several disreputable families on the West Side and in the North End and that drink brought her to such a life, She was shipped here by the Wilkes-Barre authorities whom she told she had relatives here. It is known the woman has a sister at Pittston to which place defendant was sentenced to pay a fine she was given transportation last evening and warned that if she reranned here she would be arrested and jailed as a vagrant.

Two sons nearing manhood and liv ing in Plymouth are able and willing to support Mrs. Lee, who is a good illustration of the average unfortunate with whom the Associated Charities have to deal.

POSTMASTER HART OF PITTSTON.

One of the Most Prominent Repub licans of Luzerne County.

Hen, Theodore Hart, who on Thurstime in which he is alleged to have day was named by the president to suced John H. Mullen as postmaster of Pittston, is editor and proprietor of the evening Gazette of that city and one of the most prominent Republicans of Luzerne county.

Mr. Hart was born in Athens, Pa. Sept. 10, 1847. His parents and grandparents were natives of Saratoga and Albany counties, New York. On both sides of his family he comes from Revolutionary stock. He was educated in the common schools and worked at the printers' trade some twelve years. He was a member of Typographical Union, No. 6, New York city, in 1869, and subsequently president of Austin. Texas, Typographical Union, of which he is an honorary member.

Twenty-one years ago he purchased half interest in the Gazette, where he learned the trade. Four years later he became sole proprietor. In 1882 he established the Evening Gazette and has since conducted the daily and weekly in connection with the job printing business. The Gazette was established in 1850. It is Republican in politics and is the only newspaper published in that city. Mr. Hart represented a district composed of portions of Luzerne and Lackawanna counties in the state legslature in 1885. He has never held any other public office. He is a thirty-second degree Mason and is connected with several other fraternal orders.

THE FUNERAL OF JOSEPH M. BOIES

Impressive Services at the Residence of Colonal Hanry M. Boies.

THEY WERE CONDUCTED BY REV. DR. C. E. ROBINSON OF THE SEC-OND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH. WHO SPOKE FEELINGLY OF THE LOVELY LIFE OF THE DECUASED. REMARKS WERE ALSO MADE BY REV. DR. JOSEPH TWITCHILL, OF HARTFORD, CONN.-INTERMENT IN DUNMORE CEMETERY.

Blessed with even moderate gifts of fate, few in the summer tide of youth contemplate leaving life without far more than a shade of regret and dread, yet yesterday was shut away from sight forever, one who had more to leave than most, but who, with the tenderest love of friends who would fain with their clinging grasp draw him back from the dark river; with wealth, position, influence and the honor and respect of a large commuto woo his thoughts earthward, still set his face toward heaven and calmly said: "I am ready to die." The affection in which Joseph M. Boles was held in this city was proved as far as sorrowing friends can attest

the words of men of God who spoke concerning the dead son of the house. The flower-covered casket lay in the Empire drawing room throughout the great expanse of which bloomed masses of roses, violets, lilies and every available blossom that makes earth brighter, and which were sent by classmates, business and social organiza-

to their feeling by the multitude that assembled at the residence of Colonel

Henry M. Boies yesterday, to listen to tions and countless friends. THE FUNERAL SERVICES.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. C. E. Robinson, paster of the Second Presbyterian church. The choir of the church, composed of Miss Black, Miss Garagan, Messrs. Morgan and Beynon, sang "Asleep in Jesus" and "Rock of Ages," following after the addresses, with the exquisite duet and chorus, "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break."

Dr. Robinson read many appropriate scripture selections and then spoke with emotion of the loss sustained by the family, friends, church and community. In his sweet, gentle, pure and lovely life Joseph Boies had left a testimony, the value of which was richer than the rarest treasure. The speaker had been especially impressed with the influence of such a character as during the dead young man's brief illness be was continually stopped by rich and poor, by the laborer in the streets and in fact by representatives of all classes expressing the hope that life might be spared. Death had been met with such courage and fortitude, and even to the last the gentle consideration for others and forgetfulness of self had been so marked that none could doubt the direct presence of God sustaining the parting soul. Dr. Robinson referred to the comfort received from human sympathy as only next to that of re-

DR. TWITCHELL'S REMARKS. Rev. Dr. Joseph Twitchell, of Hartford, Conn., who has long been a devoted friend of the family, made brief remarks in which he said that he bore the sympathy of hosts of friends in New England. He spoke pathetically of the accustomed greeting that he so sorely missed on this sad visit. He feit that the mourning ones had cause for gratitude in the legacy bequeathed to their keeping in the character of the departed.

Rev. Dr. S. C. Logan offered prayer. and the services closed with the benediction by Dr. Twitchell. The funeral was directed by Under-

The bearers were eight close friends of the deceased: Messrs, J. H. Brooks, T. S. Fuller, Paul Belin, F. P. Fuller, B. E. Watson, A. G. Hunt and Lawrence Fuller, Only the immediate famity and nearest friends formed the sorrowful procession to Dunmore cometery, where the family vault was opened to receive this latest tribute to the tomb. Prayers were offered by Dr. Robinson and Dr. Logan.

Among those from out of town present at the services were: Rev. Dr. Twitchell, of Hartford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Laffin, of Bloomfield, N Miss Marian Bradford, of New York; Messrs, Frank Cleland, of New York, and George Morgan, of Pittsburg, classmates of their dead friend.
